DETAILED ACTION

Continued Examination Under 37 CFR 1.114

1. A request for continued examination under 37 CFR 1.114, including the fee set forth in 37 CFR 1.17(e), was filed in this application after allowance or after an Office action under Ex Parte Quayle, 25 USPQ 74, 453 O.G. 213 (Comm'r Pat. 1935). Since this application is eligible for continued examination under 37 CFR 1.114, and the fee set forth in 37 CFR 1.17(e) has been timely paid, prosecution in this application has been reopened pursuant to 37 CFR 1.114.

Applicant's submission filed on 07/12/2004 has been entered.

Double Patenting

2. The nonstatutory double patenting rejection is based on a judicially created doctrine grounded in public policy (a policy reflected in the statute) so as to prevent the unjustified or improper timewise extension of the "right to exclude" granted by a patent and to prevent possible harassment by multiple assignees. See In re Goodman, 11 F.3d 1046, 29 USPQ2d 2010 (Fed. Cir. 1993); In re Longi, 759 F.2d 887, 225 USPQ 645 (Fed. Cir. 1985); In re Van Ornum, 686 F.2d 937, 214 USPQ 761 (CCPA 1982); In re Vogel, 422 F.2d 438, 164 USPQ 619 (CCPA 1970); and, In re Thorington, 418 F.2d 528, 163 USPQ 644 (CCPA 1969).

A timely filed terminal disclaimer in compliance with 37 CFR 1.321(c) may be used to overcome an actual or provisional rejection based on a nonstatutory double patenting ground provided the conflicting application or patent is shown to be commonly owned with this application. See 37 CFR 1.130(b).

Effective January 1, 1994, a registered attorney or agent of record may sign a terminal disclaimer. A terminal disclaimer signed by the assignee must fully comply with 37 CFR 3.73(b).

3. Claims 1-22 and 84-99 are rejected under the judicially created doctrine of obviousness-type double patenting as being unpatentable over claims 1-23 of copending U.S. Patent Application No. 09/943,134 ("the '134 application"). Although the conflicting claims are not identical, they are not patentably distinct from each other.

The claimed invention of the '134 application carries all limitations of the present invention, which is a floating gate transistor, including an asymmetric low tunnel barrier intergate insulator having different barrier heights at an interface with a floating gate and a control gate and having lower barrier height for an erase operation than for a retention operation, but fails to recite "the first barrier height being different than the second barrier height to promote easier erase operations and longer retention". In other words, the claimed invention of the '134 application, while reciting a lower barrier for an erase operation and a higher barrier for a retention operation, fails to relate "lower" with "easier" in the erase operation and to relate "higher" with "longer" in the retention operation.

Nevertheless, the lacked features are known in the art: lower barrier promotes easier tunneling of electrons thus promotes easier erase operations, and higher barrier allows low leakage thus promotes longer retention. See, for example, U.S. Patent 6,574,143 to Nakazato, in teaching a floating gate transistor, discloses that a lower tunnel barrier ("thinner tunnel barrier") would significantly reduce erase time and a higher tunnel barrier promotes longer retention ("a thinner tunnel barrier would also reduce the charge retention time", column 5, lines 29-35).

This is a provisional obviousness-type double patenting rejection because the conflicting claims have not in fact been patented.
